Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

The county commission this week, voted "hands off" for a $5,000 anonymous gift given to Sheriff Peter Widener for the purchase of equipment for the law enforcement office.

The gift, two $2,500 drafts drawn on a Freeport Bahamas bank, dated Feb. 19, had been sent to Widener—one check to purchase equipment for the crime lab the other for intelligence and security department.

The checks had been sent by Widener to the commission for acceptance or rejection. If accepted the money was to be placed in the sheriff's budget. Such action was given an okay by the State Attorney General's office.

Commissioner Paul Rardin, Canal Point, made a motion for acceptance and quickly withdrew the motion when he learned the gift was from an unidentified donor.

"Send the money back to the foreign country from whence it came," he said.

Also opposed was Commissioner Ed Bandlow, Lake Worth who said he believed the sheriff should run his office on public funds, not anonymous gifts.

The commission voted to reject the gift and at the same time to notify Sheriff Widener that if he was short of funds for operating his office, the commission would make every effort to help him out of his financial difficulties.

Liquor Store Held Up By Gunman

The Canal Point Liquor Store was held up at 1:40 p. m. Monday afternoon by a lone gunman who took $158.00 in cash. The gunman told the barmaids that he was a desperate man and meant business. After advising them it was a stick-up, one of the women turned her back on him, thinking it was only a joke, and he fired a small caliber automatic one time.

According to Frank Rozelle, deputy sheriff who investigated, the bullet struck the wall just above the adding machine on the back bar. It is reported that the holdup man had bandages covering most of his face and that he had been in the bar for over three hours drinking beer.

Witnesses report that the gunman fled the scene in a 1955 or 1956 Chevrolet car. Road blocks were set up by the Florida Highway Patrol and the Sheriff's Dept. and a search by air was made by Frank Belk, manager of the Glades Airport at Pahokee. As of press time the gunman had not been located.

Student Workers Discussed Here

BIRMINGHAM — The United States Department of Labor's Wage-and-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions has issued regulations governing the employment of fulltime students in retail and service establishments at pay rates below the general statutory minimum wage.

Regional Director Sterling B. Williams announced today that the regulations are effective June 10, 1962. They establish conditions under which boys and girls from 14 through 18 years of age, who are enrolled in bona fide schools below college level, may be employed at 85 per cent of the applicable minimum wage.

Copies of the new regulations and application forms needed by employers who intend to request certificates authorizing these special rates now are available from the Wage-Hour regional office at 1401 South 20th Street, Birmingham, Ala.

Requests from establishments which began operations after May 1, 1960, should make that known, because these "new" establishments must use a special kind of application form.

Clem J. Denicke, supervisor of the Miami field office at 1775 S. W. Third Avenue, or Rufus L. Stokes, supervisor of the North Miami field office at Room 219, Carline Building, 12490 N. E. 7th Avenue, can provide information to help operators of retail and service establishments in South Florida.

Kenny McIntosh, a junior at Florida State University, returned to his classes Sunday after spending the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. H. M. McIntosh. He will return from Tallahassee on May 30. Later in the summer, he plans to attend school in Monterey, Mexico.

Moore Haven Mill Right On Schedule

The story being reprinted below was taken from last week's issue of the Moore Haven Democrat and will be of interest to citizens on the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee:

"We'll be ready and able to start grinding this Fall," Glades County sugar co-op officials said on Thursday on an inspection tour of the new mill site near Moore Haven.

Luis de Armas, resident mill manager, and Bob Beardsley, co-op secretary, reported that provisions of all contracts for delivery of equipment and for construction are on schedule. A similar report was made earlier this week by the co-op's engineer, John Scopetta, after a review of all contracts for construction and machinery.

Nearing completion this week is the outer shell of the co-op and mill office building. Foundations have been poured for other buildings, and other foundations were being poured Thursday.

All boilers are now on the site ready for immediate erection, which is to be done by Industrial Equipment Co., of Orlando, De Armas said.

Cane-planting which ended April 15 "exceeded all but the most optimistic expectations for the first year," with more than 8,000 acres planted. De Armas and Beardsley reported. This is expected to more than supply the tonnage anticipated for the first season, both said.

Co-op president Roger Weeks reported after Monday's monthly directors' meeting that completion and occupancy of the office building, and moving of the co-op headquarters from Clewiston to the mill site, is expected within three to four weeks.

Next building to go up will be the sugar warehouse.

Other progress reported by Weeks after the meeting includes formation of a communications system, with one fixed radio station and eight mobile units, and placement of orders for part of the harvesting equipment including three continuous loaders and two transfer stations. Orders still are to be placed for 72 side-drip cane wagons and 35 to 40 tractors, and other miscellaneous harvesting machinery, Weeks said. Installation also is underway for telephone service, which will include four trunk lines and 10 telephones, plus one public phone booth.

11,000 Arrests Are Made By FHP For Month Of January

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Highway Patrol said in a report on statewide activities for the first month of the year that state troopers made over 11 thousand arrests, worked over 12 thousand days combined and traveled 1,828,224 miles while doing it.

In other activities for January state troopers:

Wrote 10,780 warnings, gave out 22,328 faulty equipment notices the courts convicted 14,011 of those accused and 2,485 cases were dismissed in that time. Left pending at the end of this period was a total 22,631 cases.

State troopers investigated 2,457 accidents in which 58 persons were killed and 1,399 were injured. The property damage approximated $1,375,693.

The weights troop stopped and weighed 38,792 trucks, found 701 overweight under Florida law and their owners were assessed $49,849.

Safety education sergeants made 352 safety talks attended by 50,319 people. They also delivered many safety programs over radio and television and showed safety film to civic, military and educational organizations with a combined attendance of over 29 thousand

Tourism Study At Fort Lauderdale

FORT LAUDERDALE — Some 300 leaders in the field of Florida tourism met recently in Fort Lauderdale to hear a report from the Governor's Florida Tourism Steering Committee and discuss plans to expand the state's number one industry in the future.

Featured guest of the conference was Voit Gilmore, director of the U. S. Travel Service, the federal bureau charged with the task of developing tourists' business from foreign countries to America. Gilmore spoke at the conference banquet, May 7.

Senator George A. Smathers addressed the luncheon session and called for an upswing in tourist advertising by Sunshine State business interests.

Reports were heard from Thomas Lee, Jr., director of the State Beverage Department; John Phillips, chairman of the State Road Department; Robert Riedel, State Hotel and Restaurant Commissioner, and Chairman-Director Wendell Jarrard of the Florida Development Commission, May 8.

Jarrard described the tourist advertising and publicity activities of his department during the past year in which Floridians saw over 12,800,000 visitors spend vacations in the state. He predicted 15 million visitors during the 1962-1963 season for which advertising and publicity efforts are already underway.

Tourist Season Broke All Records

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's 1961-62 winter tourist season broke all records for the number of visitors entering the state. They also spent more money than ever before.

The Florida Development Commission reported that 3,413,678 tourists entered the state during December, January and February. This was an increase of 21.05 per cent over 1960-61.

While estimates were not available on tourist expenditures, in 1960 the average tourist spent 19.97 days in Florida and paid out $8.80 per day. Without allowing for increased prices, the 3,413,678 visitors this year shelled out $587,152,516.

The record season was also reflected in soaring sales tax collections that were 14.1 per cent in February over the same month in 1961. Gasoline and cigaret taxes also hit new highs.

Miami Beach, reporting the best tourist season on record, said April business has increased steadily over the past few years and the current month should be the best ever.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life"

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unrelenting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

electric air-conditioning

Low-cost Electric Air-Conditioning is now the best buy under the sun. Just think: your entire family can enjoy year-round ideal air-conditioned "vacation climate" at home for much less than you'd pay for "two weeks away."

Cool comfort is only part of the story. Cool, filtered, dehumidified air is both healthful and refreshing. Heat-caused fatigue and tension are eliminated. You come home from work to a cheery hello. Filtered air that is free from dust and pollen brings relief from allergies. Lowered humidity safeguards youngsters from heat rash... and also helps prevent mildew caused by excess moisture in the air. You can shut out disturbing street noises, too.

And thrifty year-round Electric Air-Conditioning is really two comforts in one... cools in summer, warms in winter—all from one compact unit.

Flameless, dependable Electric Air-Conditioning is tried and proven... enjoyed by a half-million of your Florida neighbors. Now is the time to see your electric appliance dealer or air-conditioning contractor for better-than-ever values and easy terms.

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

In practically every discussion of a farm problem these days someone suggests the need for research to find new uses for one commodity or another.

As an example I quote the following excerpts from the letter of a Maryland dairy farmer in a recent issue of a national dairy publication:

"One would assume from reading articles and reports about how wonderful milk is that it is almost spiritual. It is definitely not. It is an economic product . . . It appears to this writer that the vast sums of money now spent for high-priced TV, radio and movie stars to advertise milk should be spent in research and development of an industrial product derived from milk. It is time new uses were found for milk—other than 'nature's most nearly perfect food.' . . . Somewhere in a laboratory something new from milk can be developed that will have economic potential. Then dairymen can again enjoy an expanding market."

The results of research have been so beneficial to agriculture in so many ways that it's not surprising to discover many people expect it can work miracles. However, experience has shown us that some of the most successful efforts to increase outlets for a farm commodity include research and other proven tools, such as advertising and promotion.

The techniques of modern marketing and merchandising offer a variety of "tools" that many of our producers in Florida can use if they wish to improve demand for their commodities. They need only to look them over, decide which they can use to their best advantage, and then get together and put their ideas to work.

Potatoes have been in the news recently, and our Florida potato growers are voluntarily financing a promotion program in which the Department's Division of Marketing is lending a hand. I believe it has excellent prospects for showing good results.

In the meantime, I note that research already has brought some new developments in the nation's potato industry that are causing big changes in utilization of this crop. In a recent report, the Market Potentials Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service points out that the proportion of potatoes used for processed foods has taken a big jump. It rose from a mere 2 per cent in 1940 to nearly 25 per cent of the 1960 crop. By 1970, it is estimated, more than 50 per cent of the national potato crop will be processed.

According to USDA, half the potatoes used for processing in 1960 went into dehydrated and frozen products. Volume for frozen French fries and dehydrated mashed potatoes nearly doubled from 1958 to 1960. Even so, it's believed there's a big potential home and institutional market still untapped.

Studies of potato use reveal that per capita consumption in the U. S. had been declining prior to 1956. In 1957, however, the trend was reversed and consumption that year showed a gain over 1956 of 1 pound per person. By 1960 the gain over 1956 had reached 6.3 pounds. There has been a big expansion in existing and new plants for processing potatoes. By mid-1961 there were 38 plants producing frozen French fries, and 12 more were being planned, were under construction or nearly ready for production.

Development of potato flakes was undertaken by USDA as one of its overall research projects to find new uses for farm products. It now predicts we'll be seeing on the market soon several new forms of processed potatoes.

The point I'd like to make is, that after a new or better product is developed, it takes advertising to inform prospective customers it's available, and promotion to persuade them to buy it. The modern businessman with a better mousetrap doesn't wait for the world to beat a path to his door—he goes after customers with every ethical means at his disposal.

In the case of new processed potato products, the firms that make them are going out after the business and are getting results. Our Florida potato growers have something that consumers want and will buy—and I'm glad to see them make a concerted effort to expand the market for what they have to sell.

Family Dinner At R. W. Sanders Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sanders at 1514 East Main Street was the scene of a family dinner on Mother's Day. Those attending were their daughter, Mrs. Sibyle Keyes and son, Drew, and Miss Brenda O'Day of Miami; their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wilson and children, Jean, Jimmy and Jan of Ft. Lauderdale and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. (Mike) Sanders and son, Michael, of Pahokee. The only member of the immediate family not present was Miss Andrea Keyes who is a freshman at the University of Florida at Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey and children of Vero Beach spent last weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jones.

BELIEVES

Eassa's opponent states he will research our academic program on teacher and student level. In other words he would MEDDLE in programs already accomplished by competent people.

A good school board member is a policy maker — a man capable of making studied decisions and then seeing that those policies are carried out. Eassa believes this county's highly trained school personnel is qualified to achieve what is best for our school children. A good board member is a man with deep appreciation for the great contributions made by our teachers and school personnel in educating our children.

Eassa believes a board member should have a level-headed approach to expenditures, a conservative approach with use of tax payers money.

Jack Eassa, DOES NOT BELIEVE in meddling in other people's business.

This winning vote was prevalent in all parts of the county—even in half of my opponents home precincts.

More meaningful goals are attained through spiritual enlightenment. This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon "Mortals and Immortals" which will be heard Sunday in Christian Science churches. Paul's admonition to the Corinthians (3) will be among the Scriptural passages: "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (p. 256): "Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal." The Golden Text is from Romans (8): "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live."

"I shall be ever grateful for the tremendous vote of confidence given me in the May 8th Primary Election.

Yow-Yow Over New Voting Precincts

County Commission Chairman Lake Lytal emphatically denied this week that the county board or any of its members had anything to do with the errors which cropped up in re-aligning the county's voting precincts.

He said the blame should fall on County Registrar Daniel Gorham, who has charged that responsibility for the errors was the county boards. Gorham specifically charged that Commissioner Ben Sundy was at fault for some mistakes made in the south end of the county.

Lytal, by way of explanation Monday, said the registrar had formed a laymen's committee without knowledge of the commission and proceeded to re-align the precincts on his own. The chairman said the board had asked Gorham to delay the changes until the current elections were over but despite the request, the registrar went ahead with his plans.

Later, Lytal said, the commission was given an opportunity to see the new boundaries and the only changes made by the commission was to correctly align boundaries in the Port of Palm Beach District, the Lake Worth Inlet District and to make precinct boundaries conform to county commission districts. All other changes, Lytal said, were made by Gorham who was also responsible for selection of the various polling places.

Lytal also said Gorham made changes in polling places within city limits without first getting approval of city officials as he had been advised to do.

"I resent him (Gorham) accusing any member of the board for being responsible for any of the errors," Lytal declared.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Byrd on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Elarbee and family of Tampa, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Mock and family of West Palm Beach, and Mrs. Verna Elarbee and Mrs. Phara Morris in Pahokee.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Geiger and son, also, visited Mr. and Mrs. Crews, Sunday afternoon. We hear a great deal about so-called "off-year" elections, as if we are to expect low voter participation. Yet throughout the State there were six seats for the United States House of Representatives on the various ballots, as well as a seat in the United States Senate, and positions of great importance in State and local government.

In these days while we witness extremist activities in our own South Florida area, we need more Positive Americanism. One of the best means to demonstrate this is by every single man and woman acting like a true American and voting. It does little good to talk about communism, or any other ism, if we neglect to practice Americanism at home, where it really counts.
